Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If the period for reply specified above is less than thirty (30) days, a reply within the statutory minimum of thirty (30) days will be considered timely.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

2. Claims 3-8, 13-15, 27-30, and 37-63 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Chan et al (5,553,123) for the same reasons as set forth in Section 3 of the last office action, dated 7/23/03.

Chan et al, in Figures 77 and 79-84, discloses the same interactive television system that includes a computing system (1520, 1524) and a recording device 1550 that is configured to record television programs as specified in claims 3-8, 13-15, 27-30, and 37-63 of the present invention, wherein the interactive television system is connectable by means of the computing system 1520 to a server 1522 that is connectable to a network (Fig. 82), a method for enabling the server 1522 to control the recording of one or more selected television programs 1550 by the interactive television system, the method comprising the acts of receiving at the server 1522 a request from the computing system 1520 for a programming schedule that identifies one or more television programs (Fig. 8), the request being made at the computing system 1520; in response to the request, the server 1522 providing the programming schedule 1526 to the computing system 1524; receiving at the server 1522 an identification (e.g. G-codes) provided from the computing system 1524 of one or more television programs to be recorded, the one or more television programs to be recorded having been selected from a display of the programming schedule at the computing system 1520 of the interactive television system from the programming schedule provided from the server 1522; and in response to the programs identified for recording, the sever 1522 automatically and independently of any broadcast signal for audio visual programming content, downloading recording instructions (e.g. date, time, etc.) to the computing system of the interactive television system so that the recording device 1550 will thereafter, automatically and without user intervention, be set up to record the one or more selected television programs.

With respect to claims 3-8, 13-15, 27-30, 38-43, 45-49, 51-57, and 59-63, Chan et al also discloses receiving, from the remote device 1522, information representing a television signal provider (e.g. channel name) that is to broadcast the one or more television programs to be recorded by the interactive television system, wherein the television signal provider has been selected at the remote device in response to input received at the remote device 1522; prior to the act of receiving information representing a television signal provider, the act of transmitting, to the remote device 1522, information 1526 identifying a plurality of television signal providers that are capable of broadcasting television programs to the interactive television system; wherein the server communicates with the remote device through an internet connection; the programming schedule includes a time, date and duration CDTL of the one or more television programs that are to be recorded (Fig. 8); the programming schedule include transmission source information (e.g. G-codes) that enables the interactive television system to tune to one or more signals in which the one or more television programs are encoded; and the transmission source information identifies at least one of a television broadcast channel, a cable channel (e.g. HBO), and a satellite channel through which the one or more signals is to be received by the interactive television system.

Response to Arguments

3. Applicant's arguments filed 7/27/04 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant asserts on pages 13-15 of the Remarks that Chan et al fails to disclose making a request at the computing system. However, it is submitted that the computing system of Chan et al comprises all elements other than the server 1526 and VCR 1550. That is, Figure 82 of Chan et al illustrates elements 1520, 1524, 1540, etc., all make up a computing system wherein computations are performed.

Conclusion

4. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.

Art Unit: 2613
